Meaningful work, in a values based organisation

Leak Detection and Advanced Building Drying Technician Bracknell

You're good at working on your own, taking responsibility, able to make your own decisions. You love being out on the road, going to work in a different home or business each day. You're comfortable communicating with people of all types from the vulnerable to the very wealthy. You know you would be willing to work out of hours on an emergency incident. You like practical work and experience real satisfaction when you get things done!

You like listening to customers while they explain their needs, know how to raise your colleagues mood on those tough days, welcome appreciation and thanks, get pleasure from puzzling out a solution to complex customer requirements. You're known for getting a lot achieved, quicker, more productive than the average.

Richfords Fire and Flood work in a "hidden" sector, not known to many. We're in the business of Giving People Their Lives Back after unexpected property damage. Based in Redruth we service the whole country through our depots. Well established and respected, we are a values based organisation. As important as the skills you bring is that your values closely match our values.

We have a vacancy at our Bracknell depot for a Leak Detection and Advanced Building Drying Technician, locating leaks within buildings, and running drying projects in those properties. You will either need to be familiar with working with leak detection technologies, or be confident that you can quickly learn. It could be helpful if you have plumber's trade skills. Experience of building drying would also be an advantage, or the ability to quickly learn these skills.

We are entering a further expansion phase and have this opportunity at our Bracknell depot. If you are attracted to the description above then we could have a great job for you!!

Please get in touch. Email recruitment@richfords.com. We'd very much like to hear from you.
